What is an End Product for Sale?

An End Product For Sale can be either a digital design or physical item that you and/or your client intend to sell to more than a single person (via marketplaces, brick and mortar stores, etc.). Let's say, you purchase a graphic and include it in a website designed for a single, paid client, this is not considered an End Product for Sale. If you purchase that same graphic and incorporate it into a t-shirt that you design and sell to multiple people, that is considered an End Product for Sale.
