

READ ME

For now, the calendar consists of 1 long animation every month, but this type of format is likely to change. In addition, several short animations of various nature will be released each month, approximately one every week, or two, depending on the nature of the animation.

Parallel to these projects, there will be an animation featuring League of Legend characters every month, but the project is yet to be finalized.

In other words, every month 1 long animation will be published, and between 5 or 6 short animations, but this number is not correctly definable at the moment.

